

Creating METSIS basket view example

1. login as site admin

The screenshot shows the NorDataNet website in a Mozilla Firefox browser. The address bar shows the URL <https://staging2.metsis.met.no/en>. The website has a dark navigation bar with links: Dashboard, Content, Structure, Appearance, People, Modules, Configuration, Reports, Help. The user is logged in as staging2_admin with a Log out link. Below the navigation bar is a secondary menu: Add content, Find content, Performance, Blocks. The main content area features the NorDataNet logo (Norwegian Scientific Data Network) and a network diagram. Below the logo is an editorial from Nature (461, 145, 10. September 2009) with a quote about data reuse. To the right is a search bar and a link to the Status Of The Data Discovery Interface. Below the editorial is a section for Planned Maintenance, dated April 14th 2019, with a tag for Maintenance. At the bottom right, there is a figure titled 'AROME Arctic Relative Humidity dumped from the NorDataNet portal' showing a map and a time-series plot of SNOF data from station TRONDHEIMVOLL.

Issues For Staging2_admin

User Registration

The NorDataNet website is free and open. Most of the functionality can be used without registration. However, for some functionality, we may require users to register. The reasons for this are

1. to be able to provide the correct information to the user that requested the information

2. to be able to manage the processing and storage capacity required properly

User registration is usually required for transformation services or other services that actively utilise the basket functionality in the data search. This user registration will allow users to use other functionality in the website, like commenting etc although these services are not fully developed yet.

In addition to this NorDataNet is running a number of user workshops. In order to plan room size etc for these workshops we ask people to register up front.

NorDataNet is never sharing information on individual users with third parties, nor is the project using this information in mailing lists or similar currently. Active consent is required before such is done.
